Microblading & Brow PMU Consent Form

The Procedure

I am requesting microblading or another semi-permanent eyebrow procedure (such as nano, powder, ombre or combination brows) from . I understand that the procedure involves using a manual blade made of fine needles or a machine to create small incisions or punctures in the skin and deposit pigment, creating the appearance of fuller eyebrows.

I understand that microblading is a form of cosmetic tattooing. Although it is described as semi-permanent and typically fades over one to three years, pigment may remain in the skin for longer, and removal, if needed, may require laser treatment or saline removal, which can be costly and may not be fully successful.

Shape and Color Approval

My artist has measured and drawn the proposed brow shape, and discussed the color with me. I have reviewed and approved the shape, thickness, arch and color before the procedure begins. I understand that eyebrows are rarely perfectly symmetrical, as faces are not symmetrical, and that the final shape depends on my natural brows and facial features.

Contraindications

I confirm that I have answered the health questions truthfully, and that I have told my artist if I:

- am pregnant or breastfeeding;
- have used isotretinoin (such as Accutane) in the past year, or use retinoids or chemical exfoliants on my forehead or brow area;
- take blood thinners, aspirin, fish oil or other supplements that affect bleeding, or have a bleeding disorder;
- have diabetes, autoimmune disease, a heart condition, epilepsy or a weakened immune system;
- am receiving chemotherapy or radiation;
- have had Botox or fillers in the area in the past few weeks;
- have a history of keloids, hypertrophic scarring or poor healing;
- have eczema, psoriasis, dermatitis, moles, rosacea or broken skin on the brows;
- have very oily skin or enlarged pores, which may affect how the pigment heals; or
- have allergies to pigments, numbing creams (such as lidocaine or similar), latex or other substances.

Numbing

I understand that my artist may apply topical anesthetic products to reduce discomfort, and that I may still feel some discomfort. I understand that these products can, rarely, cause allergic reactions or skin irritation, and I have disclosed any known reactions to anesthetics.

Risks

I understand that microblading carries risks even when performed correctly and hygienically, including:

- redness, swelling, tenderness and minor bleeding;
- infection, which may require medical treatment;
- allergic reaction to pigment or products, which may occur during or after the procedure;
- uneven healing, patchy pigment retention or strokes blurring over time;
- pigment healing lighter, darker or a different color than expected, including turning gray, blue or warm tones over time;
- scarring or skin texture changes; and
- swelling or burning sensations during MRI scans, which I will mention to my medical providers.

Healing and Touch-Up

I understand that brows will appear darker and sharper for the first days, then may scab, flake and look patchy or lighter before the color settles over several weeks. A touch-up appointment is usually needed about [6–8] weeks after the first session to fill in areas where pigment did not hold. My results are not considered final until after the touch-up. Touch-ups after the included period, or annual color refreshes, are charged separately.

Aftercare

I have received aftercare instructions and agree to follow them. During healing I will keep my brows clean and dry as instructed, avoid makeup on the brows, avoid sweating heavily, swimming, saunas, sun exposure and tanning, and avoid picking or scratching the flakes. I understand that my aftercare, skin type, lifestyle and sun exposure strongly affect how my brows heal and how long they last.

No Guarantee of Results

I understand that results vary from person to person and that cannot guarantee the exact appearance, color retention or longevity of my brows.

Photographs

I consent to taking before and after photos for my client record. They will only be used publicly, such as in a portfolio or on social media, with my consent.

Consent and Release

I confirm I am at least 18 years old and not under the influence of alcohol or drugs. I consent to the procedure. To the fullest extent permitted by law, I release , its owners and artists from claims arising from the known risks described above, information I did not disclose, or my failure to follow aftercare, except claims caused by gross negligence or willful misconduct. This consent is governed by the laws of the state or country in which operates.
